

2023 Research Fellow Award
Chris Barrington-Leigh

2023 Research Fellow Award: Chris Barrington-Leigh

- Research foci:
  - economics of wellbeing, including understanding measurement problems and cultural differences in subjective reports
  - policy frameworks for wellbeing and sustainability
  - street networks as long-run constraints on urban form
  - energy transition and climate policies
- Position: Associate Professor, McGill University, jointly appointed in the School of Environment; and the Department of Equity, Ethics, and Policy.
- Incoming Director of the World Wellbeing Panel
- Convenor of "Policies for Better Lives: Strategies for life satisfaction and human wellbeing" (2021); P.I. of the Canadian Wellbeing Knowledges Network (CWKN); and academic convenor of the CWKN's "Wellbeing ahead" conference (2023).
- Education: PhD Applied Physics (Stanford University); PhD Economics (University of British Columbia)
- Citations: 7330 citations and H-index of 28 (Google)